

Gold Sponsors

GitHub is how people build software. Millions of individuals and organizations around the world use GitHub to discover, share, and contribute to software. —from games and experiments to popular frameworks and leading applications. Together, we're defining how software is built today.

Hired is a career marketplace for the world's knowledge workers. Starting with in-demand tech roles, we're bringing together job seekers with the companies who want to hire them and ultimately, we'll be the place where all knowledge workers begin and end their job search.

Gold sponsors

Create interactive, realtime apps in minutes with your technology stack of choice by using Pusher's hosted API. Pusher is perfect for realtime notifications, activity streams, data visualisations, collaborative apps and much more. It's secure, it scales from one to millions of connections instantly and you won't need to set up or maintain your own realtime infrastructure.

Pivotal has over 20 years of experience working with global companies and startups to create world class software. At Labs, we teach them how to design, develop, and deliver great software. We pair program and practice Test-Driven Development because it creates high-quality and maintainable code. We work alongside our clients because building great products requires continuous feedback.

Silver sponsors

Flowhero.io is a smart, elegant and resourceful workflow platform.

Grain helps you eat better and conveniently. Browse through our weekly-changing menu and order delicious and fresh food in just a few clicks.

PayPal continues to lead the digital payments revolution by providing simple and secure solutions for everyone to contribute and participate in the global economy.

PocketMath is the world's largest, self-serve mobile demand-side platform (DSP) that gives you access to the world's supply of mobile real-time bidding (RTB) inventory!